

Nuggets Day3

- Monitoring evaluation and research and data collection is key to success in developing communication strategy and implementation success.
- When reform is hard to achieve, don't disarm
- In reforms it's critical to navigate the actions of the opposing side.
- Balance act of different stakeholders
- Many videos today
- The nails can hang on each other
- Success only happens when people work together in one objective not to give up good ideas but not do it.
- A leader is the one who serves for the common purpose and vision for better and has all the capacity to make people follow him.
- Anyone can be a leader as long as he has followers
- Don't do reform you can pass only, but the one you can sustain as well
- We need to learn something new and practical, especially from the academic world that case applied in real world!
- Get the right message to the right group of people. Message + people coordinate.
- People would perceive the "messages" that benefit them, the rest in the message will be left out
- Leadership is an act of getting everyone work together to achieve one common goal.
- 5 categories of listening. Know how to listen to others is very critical to leadership.
- More experience sharing is political analysis
